VENETIAN BLINDS IN THE HOME—

Venetian blinds, extremely popular in the last few years, have come to be regarded as suitable only for modern interiors, and not to be used in period rooms.

This is definitely not true. In fact, Venetian blinds have been used for a score of years in the South, and are utterly charming in traditional as well as modern settings. They are by far the most satisfactory way of regulating the light and air.

A little research discloses that the earliest example of the blind family was a crude curtain of reeds found in ancient Egyptian tombs. During the middle ages, similar blinds made of reeds were common in India, where water was thrown upon them so evaporation would cool the room.

The Venetian blind as it is known today originated in France. An advertisement dated August 24, 1757, offered them for sale in Paris under the name of "jalousies", which means jealous or jealousy. It appears that these blinds were used in palaces and homes of nobility to close in the open portions. This angered the village gossips, whose prying eyes were cheated by the new blinds, and they became known throughout France as "jalousies," which to this day is the French word for Venetian blinds.

Before the French revolution Venetian blinds appeared in Italy and Spain and were beginning to be known in England. From England they were introduced to America, where they proved extremely popular. During the early days of the colonists all the windows of the prim little New England homes had their green and white "shutters."

With the many luscious colors in which Venetian blinds are today available, and with harmonizing or contrasting tapes, or the more conventional cream, white and gray blinds, you have unlimited possibilities for decorative treatments for your windows.

SOME INTERIOR DECORATION NOTES—

The wallpaper border has returned to renewed popularity. Smart decorators are using it most effectively.

The borders themselves are of a much simpler and finer design than those heretofore seen. They offer charming relief to plain wallpaper or solid-colored walls, and, when properly used, accent the architectural features of a room.

Borders may be applied along the ceiling edge right under the cornice molding, at the top of the dado and baseboard, inside door panels, around the trim of windows and doors, and across cornice boards.

When you are having your Spring decorating done, be sure and consider the possibilities of using wallpaper borders.

BRIGHT COLORS IN FURNITURE—

Designers of new furniture are providing color in myriad ways—in walls, in finishes, in upholstery, in marquetry and inlay, in mirrors and hardware.

The trend is toward lighter brighter hues, with such shades as "tweed," "tawny" and "wheat." Knotty pine is appearing in a putty color. Transparent lacquer is being used on light-toned mahogany to accentuate the ribbon grain. "Tweed" finish is obtained by using a deep-toned filler on walnut. Hickory, long used in rustic furniture, is being modernized and is seen in drawing rooms.

In upholstery, tweeds and homespuns are enjoying the spotlight.

GOOD HABITS IN COOKERY—

To bring out the best in foods by proper cooking demands an interested knowledge of food and cooking processes. For example—to make good cocoa and chocolate, smooth, well blended and not thin and watery; the secret (and it's no secret at all) is to boil the cocoa and sugar and a speck of salt in water equal to a quarter of the liquid, for five minutes before adding the milk and bringing to the boil again. Simple—but so often neglected.

Cereals too, grow smooth and flavorful and rich with longer cooking over hot water. Custards that are set in a pan of water in a slow oven will be firm and creamy and will never separate as in too great a heat.

Fresh delicate vegetables that suffer badly from overcooking and standing should be treated tenderly and removed from the fire when first done.

Sauces of the white sauce variety only need effective and constant stirring to make them smooth, creamy, and rich, and long enough cooking to have them thoroughly done. The best way is always to cook the flour well in the butter before adding the liquid.

Good coffee and tea depend on following the latest scientific findings—that for coffee the water just below the boiling point develops all the flavor and strength, with no bitterness; that for tea, actively, freshly boiling water brings out the fragrance and strength in the leaf.

The choicest meats require a quick, intense heat to sear in all their juiciness and tenderness; whereas on the other hand, a tougher cut needs long simmering or slow baking to soften the tissues. In both cases a fork in the meat tissue is out of the question; turn the meat by inserting the fork next to the bone or in fat or gristle.

A delicate poached or "boiled" egg is accomplished only in water below the boiling point; high heat is only permissible when the egg is to be toughened, as in browning the outside of an omelet.

Brazil nuts and walnuts should be placed in a warm oven for a few minutes. They will then leave the shells quite easily when cracked.

Floral Patterns Are Particularly Good This Spring

Look Sweetly Feminine in Sheer Fabrics.

By LISBETH

Gay PRINTS appear each spring, and this season flower designs are particularly good in both crepes and sheers.

Stripes also come forth with the flowers of spring, especially for suits, and this year they, like checks and plaids, have aligned themselves with solid colors in these same suits, giving variety to many a tailor.

A charming feminine costume is shown above. The Burgundy silk chiffon coat with white flowers in a long shirred coat with three-quarter length sleeves, is worn over a plain, short-sleeved Burgundy chiffon dress. A large white Panama hat trimmed in Burgundy, white bag and gloves and wine pumps complete the costume.

Watch for smoking and shirring on sheers this season. It is an important fashion note.

The costume just described would be a charming one for the bride's trousseau, and the suit shown at the right, is one you will enjoy while on a honeymoon and will cling to long afterwards.

Cool, Smart, Young

It is smart, cool and young. It is equally good in navy and black, with a fine stripe, the material, tested rayon—the suit consisting of blouse, tying at the throat, and jacket, a collarless cardigan. The skirt is in solid color. A white sailor hat, white pullover gloves and roomy black or navy bag—depending upon the color of the suit—and your costume is complete.

In Paris, prints are being shown almost exclusively for mid-season. Many, done on organza, use enormous designs of flowers, wheat, iris or dahlias.

In stripes the color gamut is interesting as many pairs are shown—for instance, navy stripes on pink ground, and pink on navy.

As to colors, blues are in the lead, says one Paris house, usually vivid shades, with deep pinks, like strawberry and cyclamen, second.

Style Whimsies

The collarless neckline has attained a leading place in the new spring and early summer frocks.

Like a brilliantly plumaged tropical bird is the new orchid just launched on a waiting world by a certain nursery. It is called Nocturne, and is a large, broad petaled flower of clean lilac color with a stripe of brilliant purple extending from the lip of each petal to its base and widening as it extends.

One orchid worn in the suit lapel, with stem wrapped in waxed paper of the same color, may be held in place by one of the new lapel brooches or heavy clips with a very elegant effect. Sprays of orchids must be worn with ribbons to match either flowers or costume.

The "applejack" jacket has replaced the beer jacket in popularity with the college crowd. It is printed in red and green apples on processed drill, and still retains the familiar "beer barrel" buttons.

Left, long, shirred coat of Burgundy silk printed chiffon worn over plain dress; right, navy or black tested rayon suit, skirt in plain color, fine striped cardigan jacket and blouse.

Spiced Baked Slice Ham
Scalloped Potatoes
Cabbage and Carrot Salad
Apple Betty

Buy a ham butt or half a ham if you can use it. Have the butcher cut off the slice required for the spiced baked ham, then you can boil or bake the rest of the piece and use it to the last bit, even boiling the bone with beans for bean soup. That is the way the efficient housewife operates.

To-day's Recipes
SPICED BAKED HAM.—Have ham cut one and one-half to two inches thick, stick with 25 whole cloves. Make a sauce of one-half cup vinegar and one-half cup water, two teaspoons mustard and one-fourth cup brown sugar. Bake slowly for two hours, basting frequently.

APPLE BETTY.—Alternate layers of bread crumbs and chopped apples in a well-buttered dish, sprinkle each layer with cinnamon and brown sugar. Before putting on top layer of crumbs, pour in one-fourth cup boiling water with a little butter (one teaspoon). Bake half an hour covered and serve with hard sauce.

"MISS ALASKA"

Grace Bailey, known as "Miss Alaska", who reigned over the recent Fairbanks Dog Derby and Ice Carnival, is shown in the parka she wears at Anchorage. At present she is en route to Hollywood as the "fairest in the land."

Hollywood. — Got any ideas for new cycles of movies? Hollywood is staying up nights trying to think of one. The crazy comedies are about washed up, musicals are not so hot, jungle locales are thoroughly exploited, the old south is being taken care of in "Jezebel" and "The Toy Wife" (not to mention "Gone With the Wind").

Everybody is making prison pictures now. "Over the wall" and "Condemned Women" are current releases. George Raft's new picture, "You and Me," deals with the parole problem. Paramount is starting "Prison Farm" and "Escape From Leavenworth" at a future date. Mervyn Le Roy will also have a prison angle in his M. G. M. picture, "Ten Days of Heaven."

Maybe Paramount will touch off a new series of air pictures with "Men With Wings". There is so much talk now of aeroplanes in war. Or the key to the new cycle may be in the fact that M.G.M. is rushing "Northwest Passage" and Paramount is planning to beat them to the gun with "Spawn of the North".

If you could really call the turn, you'd be rich.

Smiley Burdette, the comedian in the Gene Autry pictures, is off for a month of personal appearances, and what will this do to his tour with Autry? They were supposed to start for South America. With Autry getting $4,000 a week for his share. Gene said that the tour is postponed for two weeks.

The opening of Director William Keighley's gas station was the most fantastic of all. He had lights, a band, entertainers, the personal appearance of stars, a radio hook-up and even a free barbecue.

Reginald Denny's miniature aeroplanes, originally designed as toys, are capable of carrying a high power bomb and of releasing it by radio remote control.

Rumor says that M.G.M. will make it up to Hedy Lamarr for her long wait by giving her the Garbo role in a remake of "Flesh and the Devil". With Robert Taylor in the Gilbert part.

Alan Hale has invested $200,000 in the inventions you are always hearing about. His wife says: "Never mind about making money on them, just get back what you have put in." Hale may do it next year on the theatre chair, which already has sold to the tune of $85,000.

Hale is one of the dozens of Hollywood celebrities who never makes a move without consulting an astrologer. William Dieterle, director of "Zola" is another. He insisted on starting his Wanger picture at 11.15 in the morning. Because the stars said the time was favorable.

Here's good news for the William Powell fans. Bill was well enough to pay a surprise call the other day on Myrna Loy. The maid sneaked him into the house and Myrna found him sitting in the living room with a bouquet of flowers in each hand. Picked them from her own garden.

The big show-down between Paulette Goddard and Charlie Chaplin is supposed to take place soon. She is back on the coast. Moreover, she is due to report to Selznick for tests and fittings on "The Young in Heart". . . Lots of the stars are now putting "escalator clauses" into their annuity contracts. Madge Evans has one. It provides that in time of depression, devaluation of the dollar, etc., she is to receive an increased allowance. . . In the six months that he has been off the screen, Joel McCrea has turned down three pictures, which would have netted him $100,000. . . David Niven won the season's skiing form at Sun Valley. . . If you care, Robert Taylor goes riding minus his shirt in the northridge estates. . . Jane Bryan the starlet, and Phil Kellogg, Warner cutter and acion of the corn flakes tribe, have promised their families they won't marry for a year. . . And Samuel Goldwyn, or so the story goes, walked onto the lot the day after he had fired a lot of his staff. "That's gratitude," he said. "Look, they've all deserted me!"

FAKING AN ECHO

A HIGH-LOW echo on your partner's king and ace leads against a suit contract informs him that you expect to take the third trick. It also tells the declarer the same story. Therein lies your occasional chance to put over a "fast one" on him, if the dummy has a doubleton in the suit. You may then be able to tempt him into using a high trump from the dummy which sets up a trump trick for your partner.

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

After a heart bid by South, West overcalled with 2-Clubs, and North put in a bid of 2-Diamonds. South responded with 2-Hearts, North 2-Spades, South 3-Hearts and North 4-Hearts.

When West led the club K, East reasoned that, in order to see the contract, they needed, besides two tricks in clubs, two others. He therefore played the 10 on the first trick and the 2 on the second. West led a third club, and as South also felt sure that East could ruff, he trumped the trick with dummy's A.

East's foresight saved the day for his side, for the play enabled West to cash a trump trick, which, in addition to the spade A and two club tricks, set South one trick.

Fruit Belt League Is Re-Organized

At a largely attended meeting of executive members and ball fans in the Grimsby council chamber on Monday night, the Fruit Belt League was reorganized for the season.

The outlook at the present time is for a five team group, consisting of Stoney Creek, Grimsby, Grimsby Beach, Beamsville and St. Anna. Smithville was not represented at the meeting and they are a doubtful entry this year.

Beaches team from the "Sand-strip" near Burlington were represented and wanted entry to the league. Much discussion took place on the question and their request was turned down. The feeling of the meeting was that the Beaches should be playing in either Senior "B" or Senior "A" divisions.

It is expected that the league schedule will get under way about May 17th, possibly a little earlier if the weather continues to warm up.

Vernon Bryce of St. Anna was elected president and Tommy Bland of Stoney Creek, secretary-treasurer.

Wig-Wag Signals For Crossings

Jordan Station And Vineland C. N. R. Cross Overs to be Protected — County Council Bears Share of Cost

Wig-wag signals will be placed at Jordan Station where the road to the lake crosses the C.N.R. It was decided last week by the Lincoln County Council. Council adopted the report of the road committee to accept the proposal to establish signals at this crossing and the one at the Vineland Town Line, where six young people were killed last December.

Cost of each system and installation expenses will amount to about $5,000. In each case, the board which looks after railway crossings will pay 40 per cent. out of their fund and the railway will pay 30 per cent. At Jordan, the county will pay 20 per cent. and Louth Township will raise the remaining 10 per cent. At Vineland, where the crossing is on the town line separating the two townships of Clinton and Louth, the county will pay 15 per cent. and each township will levy for 7½ per cent. of the cost.

The council met with Mr. Noell of the Board of Railway Commissioners some weeks ago and viewed the two sites.

While the Vineland crossing has been the scene of fatal accidents before, none can be remembered at Jordan Station. About 40 years ago, a Mennonite preacher, Mr. Wismer, was crossing the track with his horse and buggy. He was a bee fancier, and was tenderly fondling a queen bee in his hand. Not noticing the approaching train, he drove into its path and was struck. However, he was thrown clear, and escaped serious injury. He came up with the queen bee still safe in his hand.

Dizzy Dean, ace right-hander for the St. Louis Cardinals for the past six years, seemed to drop out of the public prints for a while but he came back with a splash when the sensational deal that sent him to the Chicago Cubs for $185,000 and three players was announced. Here is the Great Man showing his new boss, Manager Charlie Grimm, how good his arm is. Charles, need we say, is happy about the whole thing.

Maple Leafs Open A Home On May 5

Bill Urbanaki, whose professional baseball career stretching over the past 10 years has been confined to two Leagues, the International and the National, was gossiping with a number of baseball writers in a Jersey City hotel recently when one of the scribes asked him what he thought of the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Bill is not on a native of New Jersey, but he's the new shortstop of the Toronto team, and the five years he spent in the International League before he Boston Braves purchased him from Montreal in 1931, should qualify him to give something of an expert opinion on the calibre of the Shaughnessy circuit clubs.

"I like 'em" replied Bill: "I've seen a lot of all clubs in my time and you can take it from me that Dan Howley is a good team this year. And I'm not saying that just because I'm on it. It is true that we didn't win many ball games in the South during the Spring training series, but never judge a team on what it does in those exhibition games. Even the Yankees were getting knocked off in the South this Spring. Howley was doing some experimenting with his young pitchers and we were more concerned about getting into condition than in winning games that don't count. Wait until the old bell rings on the International League opening. When the boys start playing for keeps that's the time you get a real line on a team."

Toronto club officials are making big preparations for the opening against Jersey City on Thursday, May 5, and Maple Leaf Stadium may hold a larger crowd than the record one that turned out on Coronation Day last year to set an all-time attendance mark for that field.

Andorra, small republic on the French-Spanish border, has recently been in the news as the Spanish civil war has come close to its borders. The pictorial stamps from the small country are known to many beginning collectors, but postally used stamps are few in number because the republic's total population spread in some 30 mountain villages is only about 5,500. The country occupies 191 square miles in area, less than half the smallest of the Great Lakes, Lake St. Clair.

Stamps Printed in Two Languages

The country has no army, and is governed by a council of 24 representatives to a joint control of France and the Spanish bishop of Urgel. Therefore both Spanish and French coinage is valid, and stamps of Andorra are printed in the two languages. The Spanish stamps were first issued in 1928, with an overprint of current Spanish stamps for Andorra. In 1929 the first pictorial appeared, showing various shrines and a group of the council. A special delivery stamp showing an eagle over mountains was also issued that year. The Spanish stamps had new values added in 1935 and 1936.

French Stamps Overprinted

Under the French postal administration French stamps were issued in 1931 with an overprint Andorra, and a pictorial set was issued in 1932, showing scenes in the little republic, independent since 1278. In 1936 a new stamp showing the coat-of-arms of Andorra appeared. Newspaper and postage due stamps of France have also been overprinted Andorra, and a new postage due stamp issued in 1935.

New Stamps

The United States will issue a new 6-cent airmail stamp on May 14, to mark 20 years of airmail service. The stamp will be in two colors, border in blue, and eagle with outstretched wings in red. A 4½-cent value, featuring the White House, has been added to the new presidential set, and a 22-cent value, featuring President Cleveland, has resulted in some more changes in the order in which presidents will be shown on the stamps. . . . SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON PREVIEWED

The Golden Text

Mark 9:23—"All things are possible to him that believeth"

Following Vision With Service
PREVIEW OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By ALVIN E. BELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for May 1 is Mark 9:14-29, the Golden Text being Mark 9:23, "All things are possible to him that believeth".)

THE DAZZLING splendor of the vision has faded; the mysterious voice from heaven is silenced; Moses and Elijah have disappeared; and Jesus came and touched them and said, Arise, and be not afraid. And lifting up their eyes, they saw no one save Jesus only. But the Jesus they saw was the same Jesus of Nazareth they had known before the vision, though heaven's testimony in the vision was, "This is my beloved Son." Though Jesus had accompanied with Moses and Elijah in the vision he is still willing to company with the Galilean fishermen, and they set out for the valley below to minister to human need.

"My Son—Mine Only Child"

What a contrast they found in the valley below! On the mount they had heard the heavenly Father say, "This is my beloved Son." Now they hear an earthly father crying out in anguish: "I beseech thee to look upon my son; for he is mine only child." But this only begotten son of the earthly father is held in the power of the enemy of God and man. The nine apostles in the absence of Jesus were helpless to bring relief to the afflicted child. So the father appealed to Jesus, "Teacher, I brought unto thee my son, who hath a dumb spirit; and whosoever it taketh him, it dasheth him down . . . and I spake to thy disciples that they should cast it out; and they were not able." This explains the eagerness of Jesus to come from the place of glory to the place of gloom. His whole earthly life was a coming down from divine majesty to human misery.

"Help Thou Mine Unbelief"

In the presence of his impotent church, whose impotence to relieve this human misery was due chiefly to the disciples' lack of faith to make use of the powers Jesus had given them. Jesus rebuked that lack of faith, saying, "O faithless generation, how long shall I be with you? How long shall I bear with you? Bring him unto me." And when the father brought the child, he said to Jesus, "If Thou canst do anything have compassion on us, and help us." To which Jesus replied, "If thou canst! All things are possible to him that believeth." And "straightway the father of the child cried out and said I believe; help thou mine unbelief." What a confession this is of mingled faith and doubt! But how truly it represents the experience of all of us at one time or other of our lives! But this father preferred to believe rather than to doubt. He chose faith to walk by his side, and could not help it that doubt dogged his steps. He was proud of his faith and ashamed of his doubt. And our Lord graciously overlooked the doubt he fought against and rewarded the faith that triumphed over the doubt, as "he rebuked the unclean spirit, saying unto him, Thou dumb and deaf spirit, I command thee, come out of him and enter no more into him." And Jesus took the child by the hand and lifted him up and he arose and Jesus gave him back to his father fully restored to health. Then to his disciples' inquiry as to the reason for their helplessness to bring relief, he replied, "This kind can come out by nothing save by prayer." As he prayed on the mount he was transfigured.

PARDONED

Dr. F. E. Townsend, originator of famous Townsend pension plan, was pardoned by President Roosevelt as he was about to enter the Washington jail to serve a 30-day sentence for contempt of a U. S. House of Representatives committee. Townsend was sentenced for walking out on the committee when it was investigating his plan to give $200 a month federal pension to every person over 60.

Poems That Live

NESTING TIME

It's nesting time in the orchard now,
And the orioles are here;
Weaving with magic their hanging homes,
Where they'll swing in the top-limbs clear.

And the chipper bird in the current bush,
Has woven with marvelous care,
Its delicate nest, no human hand
Could match with such threads of hair.

The friendly robin now builds her home
(While her mate sits near and sings),
With old dried grasses, mud and such,
And rags and bits of strings.

The wee house wrens are hard at work,
In their cottage on pole so tall,
A-singing the while they fill odd chinks
They find in the old stone wall.

The ground bird too, has hid her home
Where the grass will arch it o'er
And shield it from destructive eyes,
When enemies explore.

The Phoebe bird is gathering moss,
To build 'neath the rustic bridge
That crosses the little meadow stream
Just over the pasture ridge.

And other birds have all come back
From winter's southland clime,
And are singing and building their summer homes,
Because it is nesting time.

SNOW WHITE'S VOICE

Adriana Caselotti, daughter of Guido Caselotti, vocal instructor of the Metropolitan Opera, furnished the melodious voice for Snow White in Walt Disney's history-making animated cartoon "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs". She got the job three years ago when she overheard Disney ask her father, over the telephone, for his aid in finding somebody for the part. Adriana yelled into an extension phone "Me, me; how about me?" Artists also used her features for Snow White's facial expressions.

WINS APPEAL

The first Canadian ever to be released after having been condemned for murder, John A. Comba, of Renfrew. An Ontario appeal court found him innocent of the death of a 12-year-old Renfrew girl. He was sentenced to hang last Feb. 12, but was granted a stay of execution until the appeal judges reviewed the case.

NOTES ON Canadian Birds By G. H. RICHARDSON

Over stretches of marsh and pond, swallows are now busily engaged in the eternal search for food. Several species come through in flocks in migration and for two weeks or so will be much in evidence. Then as their nesting season begins, the flocks gradually drift apart and only a portion of the number remains to rear young.

Four species of swallows are doubtless familiar to all who enjoy picnics in the country. The purple martin is our largest swallow, somewhat larger than the common sparrow. In color it is a deep iridescent violet blue. Its note is one of the lowest of any of our birds, being within the piano keyboard.

swallows nest in holes in fence-posts, as well as in houses set up for them.

Walking through brushy areas just beside a stretch of woods, two birds of striking plumage may appear before the observer. The brown thrasher is a bird of about robin size with a back of such an intensely rich reddish brown as to be almost unbelievable. Thrashers nest low down in bushes and spend much time on the ground scratching around for food. They do like a tree for a singing perch, however, and when one's rich song is heard, the top of the tallest tree within view will almost invariably be the place to find him.

Towhee is Colorful

The towhee is a large finch, in size between a sparrow and a robin. Its pattern is colorful and distinctive. In the male, the head and upper parts are glossy black, the breast white and the flanks rich chestnut. The borders of the tail and markings on the wings are white. The female is similar, but brown where the male is black. If one gets a close view, he will note that the eye is bright red. Towhees, like most finches, scratch for food among the fallen leaves and it is surprising what a racket one towhee can produce as he makes the leaves fly. The bird's name comes from its call note, which sounds much like towhee, though with most accent on the "whee". Its song is quite liquid and has been well paraphrased by Ernest Thompson Seton as "chuck, burr, pii ii ii ii ii."

Wrens Returning North

Those effervescent little sprites, the house wrens, will be coming back to the many wren-houses set up for them. How such tiny birds whereas most bird notes are an octave or more above it.

The barn swallow is the one which is so commonly seen about farmyards, nesting in the barns. This is the one with the graceful long outer tail feathers, steel-blue back and buff breast.

Around sand banks, along rivers or away from water, flocks of swallows of another species may be seen skimming about and darting in and out of their burrows, keeping up a constant buzzing chatter. The bank swallow will be recognized by the brown back and white underparts with a dark brown band separating the throat and breast.

Color Varies With Sex

The fourth species, the tree swallow, is differently colored in the two sexes. Both are white below, the female having a brown back.

as wrens and ruby-crowned kinglets (which are coming through now, too) can sing so loud and long is a mystery.

As April draws to a close, the first of the large family of warblers begins to appear. Myrtle warblers usually arrive shortly before the end of April, singing "chiddle, chiddle, chiddle, chiddle" as they go. Dainty birds, not much larger than wrens, they are blue gray, with black streaks above, white below, with several noticeable yellow patches—one on the crown, one on each flank, bordered with black, and the most conspicuous one on the observer is brilliant green. JACKIE COOGAN SUES MOTHER FOR $4,000,000

Jackie Coogan, former child star, filed a suit for four million dollars against his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Bernstein, shown ABOVE. The erstwhile juvenile screen star demanded that they turn over four million dollars in property and other assets which they earned in his days on the screen. The young actor, now 23, declared he earned in his days on the screen. The young actor, now 23, declared he earned in his days on the screen. The young actor, now 23, declared he earned in his days on the screen. Coogan reportedly accuses his stepfather of dissipating part of his assets on the horse races through bets made through the $100 window.

Scripture—Mark 9:14-29

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell
And Alfred J. Buescher

Peter, James and John had the high privilege of witnessing Christ in glory on the mount talking with Moses and Elijah. From the mount Jesus took them down to join the other disciples.

Here they found a father with his young son afflicted by an evil spirit and the nine apostles helpless to bring relief. Thereupon the father appealed to Jesus to heal his child.

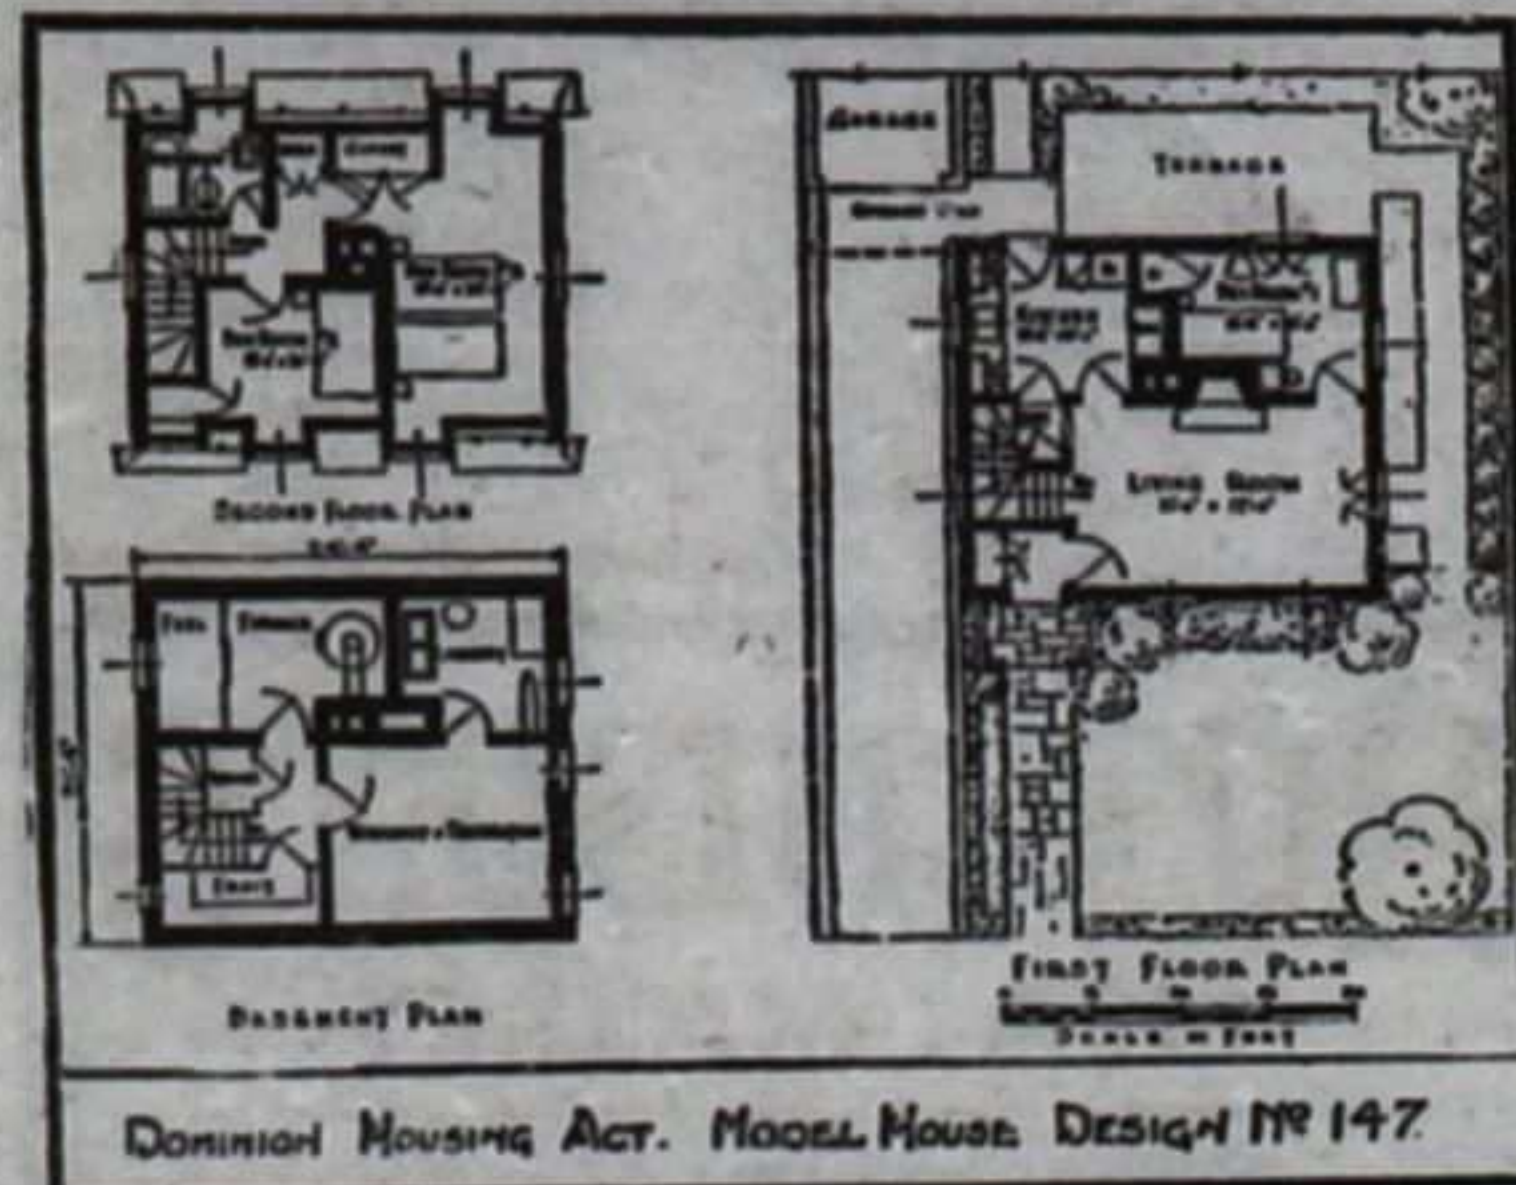

To Jesus the father said, "If thou can't do anything help us." Jesus said, "All things are possible to him that believeth." "I believe," said the father, "help thou mine unbelief."

Jesus graciously overlooked the doubt of which the man was ashamed and rewarded the faith of which he was ashamed, as he restored the child. (GOLDEN TEXT—Mark 9:23.)

CANADIAN GARDEN SERVICE

By GORDON LINDSAY SMITH

Velvety Lawns

No small garden is complete without a lawn and the richer, greener and softer that lawn is the better the whole picture. Good grass, rich and smooth enough to rival of the famous turf of the Old Country, is not a difficult feat, experts declare, though they admit that some care is required.

They point out that the average person forgets that grass is an ordinary garden plant requiring food and care just as much as flowers or vegetables and seed selection is also just as important. Good lawns are produced from top quality lawn grass mixtures, which contain proper proportions of the finer permanent grasses.

Seed should be sown liberally and the ground fertilized. Rolling in the spring and watering regularly are also advisable.

This treatment will keep grass, a rich dark green and growing fast enough to crowd out the weeds. Patches of the latter in old lawns are usually a sure sign of worn-out soil weak from starvation. In hot weather grass should not be cut as short or as often as in the spring and fall.

Garden Pictures

Although the informal flower garden is much to be preferred for average planting, at the same time does not mean just throwing in plants. Experts advise a little preliminary planning even when only a small bed of annuals is contemplated. The good seed catalogue which lists time of blooming, colors, heights and other points greatly simplifies this matter of lay out.

Generally the best plan is to have the larger flowers towards the rear or centre of the bed so that little things like nasturtiums, alyssum, dwarf phlox and similar kinds will not be hidden. Where the bed is to be mixed, it is well also, state the experts, to have late, medium and early flowers evenly balanced to insure something always in bloom.

But there are other and finer points to consider. Certain shades blend well together and often a whole bed will be selected with this blending in mind. Of course for this sort of thing, all the plants must bloom during the same period. Fragrance should be taken into account, as there are some spicy flowers like Evening Scented Stock, Nicotiana, Mignonette, Sweet Sultan and Verbena, which while rather plain as plants fill the whole garden with a delightful incense.

Mistakes

Too soon, too close, and too deep it is claimed, are the new gardeners most common mistake in sowing either vegetables or flower seeds. The average amateur starts operations days or sometimes weeks too soon and stops long before satisfactory operations can be continued. With the general run of vegetables and flowers, there is no advantage in getting things in while there is still danger of serious frost. One set-back from a cold day or two completely offsets the early start and may indeed mean replanting the whole garden. This caution of course does not apply to very hardy vegetables or flowers or to grass seed. These should be sown just as soon as grass is fit to work.

The second mistake of too deep planting is also a common one. Authorities recommend as a general rule only planting to a depth of three times the diameter of the seed. This means that seeds like peas and beans will be covered with about an inch of soil but tiny things such as lettuce and poppies will be merely spread out.

Spacing is important and yet even the enthusiast does not care to spend much time kneeling and thinning. Labor can be saved by properly spacing the seed as planted. Corn, beans, peas and similar plants with big seeds can easily be sown at the distance advocated on the packet. With tiny seeded lettuce or alyssum however it is practically impossible to space by hand but if the seed is first mixed with a little sand and the whole sown carefully plants will be spread out.

Fragrant Flowering shrub that defies snow.

To get the greatest joy from our gardens we should include in it some of the earliest and some of the latest blooms.

A very worthwhile early shrub is Daphne mezereum, which blooms in February, but should be planted now. It has beautiful fragrant flowers, and is hardy.

As shown in this garden-graph, the lilac-purple blossoms, in clusters of three, cover the bare stems before the leaves appear. These are followed by scarlet fruit in summer.

This shrub grows upright and neat in appearance. It grows to about 36 inches in height and is especially suitable where a balustrade effect is desired. It also grows well in a low shrubby border and in the rock garden, growing in sun or partial shade.

Be fair to him, too

In the discussions provoked by these articles, one point comes up so often that it deserves an article to itself...

"The brewers," we are told, "in their own interest should not support beverage rooms!"

The reasons given for this amazing statement are as follows:

"Dry sentiment in this province is much more concerned with what goes on in public than what goes on in private. If there were no licensed hotels," say these councillors, "you'd sell just as much, but people would drink it at home. Extremists wouldn't be scandalized. They'd switch their attack to somebody else."

In other words, the Brewing Industry is invited to secure itself to spare the feelings of a cynical minority!

In order to make things easier for itself, it is advised to deprive the poorer man of his liberty, while the rich man can still drink comfortably at home!

Worse, it is advised to drive the working-man to break the law. For that again would be the inevitable result of closing the beverage rooms!

Under no circumstances will the Brewing Industry take that kind of advice. We support the beverage room because the British nations have proven out-in-the-open control the best way!

"SPEAKING as a man who does not indulge in any alcoholic beverage, it is my considered opinion that the results in all civilized countries in which Prohibition has been tried, have altogether failed to come up to the smallest expectation of what it was expected to accomplish. Rather, it resulted in a crop of bootleggers, hijackers, and enormous quantities of poisonous liquors, which caused the death of thousands. It not only caused a thorough disrespect for the Prohibition law but attacked the very foundation of our British system of respect for law and order."
